By Matessa Doughman (member of D.A.R.)

Edward W. Jackson was born in New Jersey and emigrated with his family to Harrison County, Va., now W. Va. in 1793.

His son, William Jackson, with his family emigrated to Ohio in 1828, and settled near Wesley Chapel, M. E. church (now Harlan) Township, Warren County, Ohio, about two miles from Blanchester, Ohio, on State Route #28.

A chart containing records of the family was made by Andrew Jackson II, b. 1853 d. 1923 and is now in possession of Miss Bertha Jackson, Pleasant Plain, R.F.D #L, Ohio. Allie Adams also kept a record. In March, 1935, the data was brought up to date and published by Matella Prickett Doughman, a local genealogist for D.A.R. Lebanon, Ohio, who used the chart, history and other data obtained from descendants, from court and other public records, tombstones, and from the mailing list for Jackson family re-unions - Geneave Hixon, Secy. Please notify Mrs. Doughman if there are errors. She will furnish addresses of families upon receipt of a double postal card.

The following information was given in a MSS. by Roy B. Cook, Secy. of W. Va., State Board of Pharmacy, of Charleston, W. Va. and genealogist for Jackson-Elsworth-Bennett and other families. It was prepared for Thomas J. Arnold in 1928.

This is to certify that I have made search for the record of Edward W. Jackson, of New Jersey, in land records, county and state public records, and various published authorities, such as "Eminent Men of Virginia" and similar items. I collected this material and made this search to identify and prove that there were two Edward Jacksons living at the same time, and near neighbors, near my home; that is the Jackson family of "Stonewall Jackson," and the New Jersey or Edward W. Jackson.

- The following is part of my findings: Richard Jackson, Southold N.Y. 1640
1. Robert Jackson, from England to Long Island, probably in the 1600's.
2. John Jackson, of Long Island.
3. James Jackson
4. Joseph Jackson, of Long Island, who removed to New Jersey, where he married , and had issue; - Edward W. Jackson.
5. Edward W. Jackson, born in New Jersey, in 1730, died in Harrison County (W) Virginia, in 1807. He married Martha Miller and had issue: (1) Stephen Jackson, born in New Jersey July 31, 1768, died 1847; (2) Benjamin, born 1770; (3) Susan, (4) Jacob, born 1772; (5) Jemima, born 1775; (6) William, born 1777, married Hannah Bennett, dau. of Isaac and Hannah (Ellsworth) Bennett; (7) Samuel, born 1783, (8) Sarah, born 1786; (9) Lucie or Lucindia, born 1788, (10) Mary, born 1790; (11) Phoebe, born 1793.

The said Edward Jackson (1730-1807) lived in New Jersey, at least until 1793. During the Revolution the Second Virginia Regiment was ordered from Virginia to join the forces under Washington in operations around New York. In doing this the regiment was stationed near the home of the said Jackson, and in all probability, he (Edward) enlisted Aug. 13, 1776, and his son Stephen joined a company under James Willis at that time. It seems that they served until the close of the war as both were wounded at Yorktown.

In 1793 the said Jackson and his family removed to Harrison County in Western Virginia, where they located on Brown's Creek. His will, dated May 7, 1807, is on record at Clarksburg, West Virginia, in Will Book One, page 332. The children are named as legatees. The inventory of his estate was filed and recorded June 29, 1804. (Will Book 1, p.413) The only deed of record is dated April 16, 1792, in which his wife "Martha" joins in the conveyance.

Investigation also discloses further data on this Edward W. Jackson as follows:

In the 20th Report of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, from October 11, 1916, to October 11, 1917 (Senate Document No. 241, 66th Congress, 2nd Session, Washington) under the caption "Graves of Revolutionary Soldiers" on page 70, appears--

"Jackson, Edward, born 1730, died 1820 (1807).

Served in Captain James Willis' company. Second Virginia Regiment, wounded at battle of Yorktown, buried on the home farm in the family plot, about one mile south of Mount Clare, Harrison County, West Virginia."

The undersigned further affirms that he has made an exhaustive study of the family of Edward Jackson (1753-1828) usually locally referred to as the "Jackson mill Jacksons" and in this connection quite familiar with the Edward W. Jackson (1730-1807) locally called the "Jane Lew or New Jersey Jacksons" and that it is well known by all local people and proven by the records that the two groups resided in the same general locality and bore no relationship. He further affirms that he has personally examined the public records, and further has a wide acquaintance with members of both groups, and has frequently visited the graves of both Jacksons-- the one being interred at Jackson's Mills, three miles below the city of Weston, and the Edward W. Jackson burial place being located at what is now known as Byron Stop, on the trolley line between the city of Weston and the city of Clarksburg. Descendants of both groups still reside in the community, and the family of the undersigned in one or more lines has been connected with the same community since 1795.

Jackson, John Swigart, and Stephen Jackson, Trustees of M.E. church for one acre of ground purchase price $25. on the Milford and Martinsville Road--for church and burying ground--date, June 2-1854.

No doubt a "Class" was organized prior to this date.

4. Rev. John S. Jackson, son of Lemuel.
4. Rev. William P. Jackson, son of Lemuel.
5. Rev. Edgar Jackson, son of William P.
4. Salathiel Jackson, son of Lemuel.

Members of Jackson family who served as Soldiers.

1. Edward Jackson, Revolutionary War.

2. William Jackson, War of 1812.
4. Granville Jackson, Captain, killed in Civil War.

4. Salathiel Jackson, Civil War.
4. Levi Schooley, husband of Phebe Jackson, Civil War.
3. Benjamin Basil Jackson, Civil War.
4. James Ireland, Civil War.

My grandfather, Jacob M. Jackson, must have married in West Virginia for my father told me many times, that when coming to Ohio and attempting to ford the Scioto at Chillicothe the water was so deep, due to heavy rain, that the wagon was almost swamped when the horses were compelled to swim and floated way down the river, finally reached the other side and landed safely. Granville my father's oldest brother was a child in arms and my grandfather had to hold him up above the water. My great grandfather, William Jackson was riding the wheel horse and driving the lead horse.

Incident written by Dr. Elmer E. Jackson, son of George, son of Jacob, son of William, son of Edward W. Jackson.

A history of the Jackson family would not be complete unless reference was made to the LEVEL SILVER CORNET BAND

The first band was organized before the Civil War, and numbered among its members, George Jackson, Gus Spence, Sam Spence, Pingery McFarran, Joel Blackstone, and met in Jared Adams Store adjoining the school house. It burned with all the instruments of the band.

The second band was organized about 1874 by Steve Jackson, at first, the meetings were held in the primary room of the Level School house. Later, a two room building was moved from the Tom Patterson farm to the lot at Level, opposite the old blacksmith shop. Instructors were J.A. Mays, of A. Squires & Co. Cincinnati.

Wm. Grapes of Cincinnati was the second. Later it was decided that Steve Jackson and Elmer Jackson were sufficient instructors. The band gradually passed out of existence in 1884. The busiest season was the Hancock-Garfield Campaign in 1880. The Level Band played ~~xxxi~~ twice against the Clarksville Band at the Blanchester Fair. Winning one and losing one.

The band was uniformed and had a very classy band wagon drawn by four horses.

The membership of second band was--Elmer E. Jackson, First Cornet and Leader-joined the band at 13 years of age--at 14 he was the leader--George Jackson, First Cornet. Stephen Jackson, Second Cornet, and Assistant Leader--Later Solo Alto. Theodore Geran, Frank Price, Henry Exman, and Bland Harcum, 2nd Cornets.

Solon Luce Jackson and Huston H. Jackson, First Altos.

Albert Fox and Albert Wolf, Second Altos. Lil Littler, Clarinet.

Gus Spence, Baritone, Andrew Jackson, Tuba, was succeeded by Benjamin B. Jackson, who was succeeded by Ollie M. Spence, Tuba.

Perry Sears, Bass Drum. Peter E. Spurling, Snare Drum. Aetna Spurling, Symbols. It is believed that Elmer E. Jackson is the only one living, now, (1935).

Above information by Elmer E. Jackson.

A number of the family have been prominent in musical circles. The family trait of love for music is notable and musical talent, both vocal and instrumental, as well as artistic talent is universal in the family down to the present day.

Ollie Spence conducted a fine band and orchestra in Chatanooga, His son, Jack Spence, has his own orchestra at present.

Another of the family, Mrs. Caroline Gilpatrick, daughter of George Jackson, began to play Cornet at the age of 7 years with her father as her Instructor. Studied under Prof. Benjamin Lewis at N.N. University, Lebanon and played in orchestra. While teaching in Ohio, Indiana, and Montana, she continued her study of music and at the present time (1935) is conducting a music Studio in Seattle, Wash. where she teaches flute, trumpet, clarinet, saxaphone, French horn and trombone. She is a member of prominent clubs in her city, and lectures upon music and kindred subjects before the leading clubs in Seattle--and taught wind instruments in three different colleges in Washington.

Her son Franklin has won honors as a flute player. Is a member of an orchestra of the University of Washington. Band- a sophomore in High School-he plays, clarinet, saxaphone, and piccolo as well as the flute.

The Jackson family has also been noted for the number of school teachers that have been successful in their chosen profession.

ELLSWORTH.

The Ellsworth family appears as early as 1760 in the upper valley of the South Branch of the Potomac, at that time a part of Augusta County, later Rockingham and now Pendleton county. The Augusta records show that at least three families of the name were early settlers in that section. In 1765, Moses Ellsworth acquired sixty-acres on the North Fork of the South Branch, and in 1771 acquired 357 acres adjoining. Jacob Ellsworth purchased 215 acres in 1771 in the same region. In 1785 Moses sr., Moses jr., and Jacob are all listed as heads of families in that section, but the name does not appear on the titheable lists for 1790, indicating that they had moved away. No records in Pendleton after 1790.

(1) Moses Ellsworth sr. was born 1738, and died in Harrison county, January, 1802. In 1758 he married Mary Elizabeth Hinkel (b. 1731 d. 1832). He was living with his family in present Pendleton, in 1785, and had acquired land there as early as 1765, as noted.

There is no evidence that he served in the Revolution but on August 18, 1775, the Augusta County Court allowed him payment for supplies used in Donmore's War at the battle of Point Pleasant. In 1782 he was allowed a claim for horses, lime, corn, etc., furnished to the Continental Army.

About 1788 he removed to Harrison County and located near Lost Creek, where he took much part in early church affairs. At his home was organized one of the first, if not the first, Methodist Society in Harrison county. In this work he was assisted greatly by his son-in-law, Joseph Chevuron, a Frenchman, long a well known local minister of that faith. It seems that others of the name located nearby as early as 1790. The name does not appear on incomplete censuslists for 1810 for Harrison county.

Children:

1. Barbara, born about 1759, m. 1775, Joseph Bennett, and had issue-Moses, etc.
2. Jacob, married Rachel Bibby, April 10, 1793.
3. Moses, Jr., married Mary Bumgardner, 1783.
4. Rebecca, married (first) Benjamin Richards, January 9, 1794, and (second) Joseph Chevurent. He was a native of France, appeared in September 1790 term of court of Harrison county, and was licensed as a minister in M.E. Church. Together with his father-in-law, Moses, Ellsworth, was one of earliest organizers of M. E. Society in Monongahela Valley.
5. Hannah, married Isaac Bennett, and had issue-Hannah, and others.
6. Mary, married Jacob Collins, March 25, 1795.
7. Sarah, married Jacob Richards, June 6, 1790.
8. Katherine, married Edmund West, April 11, 1791.
9. John, married Mary Richards, January 20, 1789.
10. Aaron, married Margaret Bumgardner, June 29, 1791.

Moses Ellsworth was spoken of in the life of Jos. Quinn and called the "pious patriarch" of an extensive, pious, and amiable family." The proof that Moses Ellsworth was a Revolutionary War Patriot was furnished to M. Doughman, by Edith H. Whitaker, of London, O. The descendants of William Jackson and Hannah Bennett are eligible to D.A.R. membership through Moses Ellsworth.

It is stated that Mary Hinckle or Hinkle, wife of Moses Ellsworth, has Revolutionary War ancestor, in her father, Mrs. Edythe H. Whitacre, London, has proofs.

BENNETT.

The origin of the Bennett family on the upper waters of the South Branch of the Potomac is somewhat obscure. One family tradition recites that the family is of Scotch origin, migrated to New Jersey, and thence to Maryland. In Maryland, one William Bennett married Hannah Lee, member of a family located in old Montgomery county. This Bennett is said to have been a relative of Richard Bennett, colonial Governor of Virginia. In some way a contact was made with the Green family land syndicate, which had contacts with Culpepper county, Virginia and York county, Pennsylvania. William and his family removed to the South Branch. Another tradition recites that the founder came to America with Braddock, in 1755; landed at Alexandria; took part in the campaign in western Pennsylvania, and remained along the Potomac. Definite records trace the family in Pendleton county regions, back to 1767, when surveys were made of lands along the North Fork of the South Branch River. The territory at that time was a part of Rockingham county, Virginia.

The first of whom we have any definite information, in this direct line, was a Joseph Bennett, born about 1755, who in 1775 married Barbara Ellsworth, a daughter of Moses and Mary Elizabeth (Hinkel) Ellsworth. He patented lands in 1772, acquired other property, and served as a member of Harrison's Militia Company in 1788.

(1) - Joseph Bennett, born about 1755, died _____ married, in 1775, Barbara Ellsworth, of Pendleton County, a daughter of Moses and Mary Elizabeth Ellsworth (sr).

I Richard Jackson had a grant of land in Southold, Mass. 1640. Record says he remained in Mass. and died there 1672 ages 90 years. He had a son Robert, who married Agnes Washburn, daughter of Wm. and Jane Washburn, born Scrooby, England, 1620 - was of Standard, Conn. 1640.

II In 1644 we find Robert Jackson one of the first settlers of Homestead, which was the first English settlement made on west end of Long Island under the jurisdiction of and by the permission of the Dutch Government. He must have been a man of means and high standing in the Colonies since his name frequently appears in the records of the town as magistrate! After the capture of N.Y. by the English in 1664 he was one of the deputies from Homestead to the convention which met in that place early the following year.

Robert's will is found in Book A. Queen's Co., clerk's office, and is the oldest will recorded there. It is dated, May 25, 1683 and probated Oct. 13, 1685. In his will he provides for his wife Agnes, his sons John and Samuel, his daughter, Sarah who had married Nathaniel Moor and provision also made for the child of his daughter Martha Jackson Cole who had died a few years previous.

III John Jackson, son of Robert and Agnes Jackson, according to law of primogeniture inherited most of his father's estate, and was one of the patentees of Hemstead under the patent granted by Governor Dougan in 1685 and the last survey of the land included in this grant. He was sheriff of Queen's Co. from 1691-1695, and was one of the largest land owners in that county. He was a member of the assembly from 1693-1701. He was twice married. His first wife was the daughter of Samuel Hallet, of Dorsetshire, England, who moved to Greenwich, Conn. His second wife was Elizabeth Leaman. He made his will Aug. 26, 1724 and died 1725. (Desc. of John Jackson are eligible to Colonial Dames.)

IV James Jackson, son of John Jackson and his first wife Elizabeth Hallet, seems to have been a very useful citizen. He was looked to for advice and was chosen with Col. Isaac Hicks as referee in a dispute between Mass. and R. I. relating to boundary lines between them. The colony of R. I. was so pleased with their conduct and endeavors to reconcile the people of the two governments that it voted each of them a silvertankard of 50 pounds Sterling with the colony's coat of arms handsomely engraved thereon. James married Rebecca Hallet, daughter of William Hallet, Jr. and granddaughter of William Hallet, Sr. who settled in Greenwich, Conn. His will dated Sept. 27, 1735 was proven Oct. 21, 1735 - found on record in N. Y. City, Surrogate office. James and Rebecca had 20 children, 18 of whom were living when he died.

V Joseph Jackson, son of James and Rebecca (Hallet) Jackson, left Long Island when about 21 years old and went to Morris Co. N.J. Records show that Wm. Winds conveyed to Joseph Jackson on Sept. 17, 1759 a tract of 1626/10 A. land on the left bank of Rockaway River near the village of Rockaway, Morris Co., where he lived and there he died in 1769. He acquired other property of much value. He and his wife Ann had 11 children. His oldest son, James, died at the age of 21. After Joseph died his widow Ann married Deacon Garrigus.

VI Edward Jackson, son of Joseph and Ann Jackson, married Martha Miller. He with his wife and 3 children, Jemina, Stephen, and Samuel, left N. J. and went to Fayette Co., Pa. about the year 1786-88. Edward with his family, his cousin John and 2 sons, George W. and Edward, his sister Elizabeth Jackson Tompkins and her family, his brother William and family all left N. J. together. At New Castle, Del. they separated. His brother Wm. and family, sister, Elizabeth and family went South into Va. while Edward and his cousin John with their families went West into Pa. and settled in Fayette Co., Pa.

Edward and his son Stephen saw service in the Rev. War. They were in the battle of Yorktown and were wounded. After the close of the war, Edward with his family left Pa. and came to Harrison Co. Va. (now W. Va.) and settled. This was about the year 1792. They settled on a farm on Brown's Creek, near Mt. Clare. (now Byron's Stop) Edward his wife and son Stephen are buried on the home farm.

Much of this data was collected by Lon (Alonzo) Jackson who had made quite a study of the Jackson family. Lon was a son of Minter Jackson and his first wife Mary Katherine Foll. He died in 1892. He had a son Ernest Alonzo who was a missionary to Brazil. He and his wife and youngest son went down in the wreck of the Vostris, Nov. 1928.

The Minter Jackson mentioned in the foregoing was the son of Stephen Pomeroy Jackson, II who was the son of Stephen Jackson I, who was the son of Edward.

✓ Martha Miller Jackson, while on a visit to her daughter, Mary Bush, took sick and died there. The streams were at flood stage and her body could not be taken to the graveyard on the home place where her husband, Edward W., was buried, but was buried in Butcher's cemetery $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles north of Weston, W. Va.

Iva Conover gives this data concerning "Aunt Polly "Mary" Bush, who lived near Butterville, Ohio, her sister Lucinda Jackson Flesher" had died (May 20, 1853), and walking home, very fast, as it was getting dark, she became ill, sat down on a log and then fell over dead from a heart attack. (May 21, 1853).

Mrs. Elizabeth Higgins Hadley left in her Bible a notation as follows: "These are taken from the tombstones at Wesley Chapel graveyard" (near Blanchester). "Lucinda is my grandmother Jackson Flesher". "Lucinda died May 20, 1853 - aged 65-10-8"- Mother died (Catherine Flesher Higgins) Jan. 13th, 1852, ages 26-2-4" Polly is my Aunt Polly Bush sister to grandmother, both died same day-" Polly died May 21, 1853-aged 63-9-21."
